TUESDAY MORNING ..... MAY 8, 1860.

☞ A part of the proceedings of the Convention at Charleston needs explanation to the people of Kentucky. After the secession of several States, a proposition came from Tennessee, which had been concocted by Virginia, that the Dred Scott decision should be indorsed, and that it should still require 202 votes to make a nomination. It was understood to be an ultimatum, which, if not accepted, would lead to a secession on the part of three States—Virginia, Tennessee and Kentucky. Amongst others, Kentucky retired to consult, and after consultation, Kentucky reported her concurrence with Tennessee and Virginia. We are to understand, then, that without these conditions Kentucky would leave the National Democratic Convention. Requiring the two-thirds vote is not the most reasonable, but to require that votes not given should be counted—votes that had seceded and belonged to the opposition—was absurd. New York, for plausible reasons, agreed to the proposition. Her delegates knew it would defeat a nomination; but they would make any concession rather than give an excuse to secede, although it would be but an excuse.

The question is, do the Democracy of this State sanction this conduct of their delegates?

Alabama started this secession, but eight of the eighteen delegates were entirely opposed to it. Georgia left, but nine out of the twenty delegates were opposed to it. So it was understood at Charleston. Still the majority of Alabama and Georgia took the responsibility, and the majority of Virginia, Tennessee and Kentucky were ready to follow the bad example. Did the Democracy of Kentucky expect this of their delegates? Did they send delegates to Charleston to secede from the Convention and break it up if they could not have their way? Are the Democracy of this State ready to break up the party for such causes as now exist? Are they ready to join the secession movement, led on by men whose ultimate object is disunion, and who have taken the first inevitable step to that end? The Kentucky delegates must have known that no nomination could be made under such a rule. If they did not know this, they were exceedingly ill-informed.

All these factious movements were to defeat one man, and he the choice of a resolute majority; who got a majority of the whole electoral vote of the United States in the Convention, and who did not then exhibit all his strength in that body; a majority, too, who deem his nomination indispensable to success in their States at home. Again and again it was repeated that a majority from the Democratic States were opposed to Douglas; that he obtained a majority from States that would not vote the Democratic ticket. It is quite easy to be seen, if the choice of these States is repudiated by the others, and their doctrine denounced, they will not vote the Democratic ticket. If the Southern States are thus exacting, and, to gain their object, secede from a Convention, and insist on unreasonable and factious means to accomplish their end, they will have the credit of boasting that they alone are Democratic, and they can always boast of enjoying this distinction alone in all time to come. The Convention at Richmond will not be troubled by any States outside of the select few. So the Chicago Convention will be little troubled by delegates from Democratic States.

But the point is, what right had the delegates from this State to make conditions and join a secession movement? Who instructed them to do that? What right had they to join a majority of delegates from a few States; States, too, containing factions who are tired of the Union, and hardly disguise their desire to "let it slide?"

It is time the sentiment of the party in Kentucky was known. This Convention assembles again in June, and the factious proceedings may be repeated, and the Democratic party divided forever. Had the threatened secession taken place at Charleston, there would have been an end of the National Democratic party, had the people at home sanctioned it.

Now, all who are ready to sustain this result can say so. It is plain and palpable. Those who desire a Southern party can have one, and if the masses of the Democratic party don't speak out, they will have one, whether they want it or not.

For our own part, we wash our hands of this sectional movement. The Northern Democracy have granted all we have a right to ask. They held back the Federal Government, after a desperate struggle, from saying that the people of a Territory should not have slavery if they wanted it. They will not say to the people of a Territory, you shall have slavery, however much you are opposed to it, which is the whole substance of the majority resolutions. They ought not to say it, and we ought not to ask them to say it.

It is remarkable that Southern men, who know that this demand would be of no use if it were granted, still persist in urging it on the North. They know, moreover, that the very opposite of this was held throughout our Territorial discussion and adjustment. The demand is a new one, inconsistent with the well-understood, settled policy of the party.

THE COMING CONVENTIONS.—The American Convention, for the nomination of President and Vice-President, will be held at Baltimore on Wednesday, May 9. The Republican Convention meets at Chicago on Wednesday, 16th of May, and the Democratic Convention reassembles at Baltimore on the 18th of June. In 1856 Mr. Buchanan was nominated for President, at Cincinnati, on the 5th of June, and Mr. Fremont, at Philadelphia, on the 18th of that month. The campaign will, therefore, commence at about the time in the year as in 1856.

☞ The inventor of the Whitworth rifle states, in proof of its enormous strength, that he loaded one of the barrels with a leaden plug, so long that a full charge of powder was unable to drive it out. On firing the powder, the plug remained in the barrel, and the gases of the explosion all escaped through the touch-hole, leaving the barrel uninjured. The experiment was repeated four times, with similar results.

☞ One of the Secretaries of the Charleston Convention, upon receiving a beautiful bouquet from a lady in the gallery, instantly wrote some poetry, of which this is the last verse:

"I'll bear the flowers to distant lands,
And bear thy image too;
I'll clasp them there in silken bands—
Oh! may such bands clasp you.
These lure thee well, bright, rosy dream.
Thou art unknown to me."

☞ Mrs. Cook, a Connecticut lady, sues for a divorce from her husband, alleging that he compelled her to act the clairvoyant and spiritual medium to the detriment of her health.

☞ During the three years of Mr. Buchanan's administration, the Department of State has issued about eighteen thousand passports to citizens desiring to travel in foreign parts.

☞ The weather continues warm and seasonable.

☞ The Hon. John Bell, of Tennessee, passed through our city on Friday, en route for the Baltimore Convention.

☞ The railroad companies announce "half fare" for the delegates to Chicago. Will the hotels continue the half-fare during their stay?

☞ Marry come up! There were 48 marriage licenses taken out in Marion county, Indiana, during the month of April. Marrying county would be a better name.

☞ Dominica is recommended by a correspondent of the New York Tribune, as a suitable place for the free blacks of the United States to colonize.

☞ The villian Peter Lane, who was convicted of burning the Great Western railroad depot at Windsor, has been sentenced to the peuitentiary for ten years.

☞ The Kentucky town-ball club, of Newport, Ky., and the Cincinnati Excelsior club, played a match game on Saturday last, the latter gaining the victory.

☞ Gen. Johnston, formerly commander of the army in the Utah expedition, arrived in our city on Saturday. He is a gallant and meritorious officer, and second to none in ability.

THE LEXINGTON SHOOTING AFFAIR.—Cook, who shot Leonard in the arm, at the Broadway Hotel, in Lexington, on Monday last, was held to bail in $300, to appear before the Circuit Court, and Leonard was held in $100 for a future preliminary examination.

CORRECTION.—Messrs. Gooch & Noble have removed their carriage shop and warerooms from the corner of Third and Jefferson streets to Jefferson, between Third and Fourth, instead of between Second and Third, as we had it yesterday.

☞ There are no less than fifteen Quarterly Reviews now published in the United States, only one of which (The North American) is purely literary. All the others are religious, and with scarcely an exception, edited by clergymen, as the organs of church denominations.

☞ A rich merchant's daughter was induced to run away from her home in Milwaukee with a servant girl and join a notorious pickpocket in Chicago. Luckily the father got on the trail of the truant runaways and rescued his daughter from ruin. The servant girl succeeded in getting some money from her friends and some from her foolish hearted companion, with which she joined her "lovyer" in Chicago.

☞ The Louisville Journal is nursing the credit of the editor as a prophet. He foretold the split in the Democratic Convention, and the point on which it would occur. We believe he has predicted all imaginable ways, and it is not very marvelous that one of his predictions should be verified. Will he tell us what his Convention will do at Baltimore? Will it have any opinions to split on?

☞ The Opposition admire very much the honesty of the Democrats at Charleston, in splitting to pieces on an issue upon which they disagreed. They admire, but can't imitate. They don't intend to make any such issue. They will "pretermit" any expression of opinion. They affect great zeal on one side now; but at Baltimore they will take the other side, or no side at all, for spoils.

☞ The Japanese have discovered that a few seconds previous to an earthquake, the magnet temporarily loses its power, and have ingeniously constructed a light frame supporting a horse-shoe magnet, beneath which is a cup bell metal. To the armature is attached a weight, so that, upon the magnet becoming paralyzed, the weight drops, and striking the cup, gives the alarm. Every one in the house then seeks the open air for safety.

☞ Five hundred and ninety-four Mormons arrived in the ship Underwriter, at New York, last Tuesday, en route for Utah. Of spinsters there were 92; wives, 96; widows, 16; children under twelve years of age, 148. The principal portion of the emigrants were English, say about 300; of Swiss there were 154; of Welsh, 26; French, 1; Irish, 2. Of the above, 135 will travel with handcarts, the balance by teams, which will be provided on the frontier.

☞ The following extract from a private letter, written from Baton Rouge, La., under date of May 1st, 1860, contains the following significant account of the condition of matters in Louisiana:

Our latest dispatches inform us of the secession of seven Southern States. It is what was looked for here. Almost the entire community denounce the proceeding, and declare they will stick to the Convention, and support the nominee at all hazards, be he whoever he may; but all desiring the nomination of Mr. Douglas. Should he (Douglas) be nominated, it is estimated by leading men that he can beat any man in Louisiana by ten thousand majority. All this office are decidedly strong Douglas men. However, by the time you receive this, the fight will be over, the Convention will have had its say, and, I presume, Douglas' name will be heralded forth to the world as the candidate for President, nominated by the National Democratic Convention. That being the case, the fight will wax warm in this State.

☞ It is said that one or two of the persons implicated in the Carlist affair in Spain, were related to the Montigo family and consequently to the Empress Eugenie. A message was sent off from Paris to Madrid, requesting Queen Isabella to spare the lives of the fivored parties. Queen Isabella is said to have replied, that those who have made this request appeared to forget that she was a constitutional sovereign; that she could not take upon herself to remit, any more than to inflict punishment, without the advice of her responsible ministers; and, moreover, that the parties arrested could not be considered as criminals until they were tried and condemned by the proper tribunals.

SENATOR PUGH'S REPLY TO YANCEY.—The editor of the Montgomery (Ala.) Confederation thus notices the late discussion between Senator Pugh, of Ohio, and Mr. Yancey, of Alabama. He says:

"Yesterday evening Messrs. Yancey and Pugh made speeches of an hour and a half each, the latter replying to the former. Both sustained themselves to the satisfaction of their respective friends, and Mr. Pugh coming fully up to the very high standard that had been claimed for him. As a logician and reasoner he is far superior to Mr. Yancey, and his points in this case were put with great skill, and argued with consummate tact and ability. He inspired his friends with enthusiasm, and instilled into them firmness and courage."

Cincinnati Enquirer.

EXTRAORDINARY COAL TRADE.—A telegraphic dispatch from Piedmont, received last evening, states that two hundred and twenty-five eight-wheeled cars, loaded with coal, arrived in one train at that place about three o'clock yesterday, over the George's Creek Railroad. This is said to be unprecedented. At Locust Point shipping wharves yesterday, there were three hundred and forty-five of the large cars received by the road, every one of which was unloaded and dispatched back to the mines. At this rate (which is some 3,400 tons per day) the business of the road, if maintained throughout the year, would reach more than a million of tons.—Baltimore Sun.

☞ Long before gold was discovered in California and Australia, Sir Roderick Murchison, an eminent English savan, strongly recommended the unemployed Cornish miners to emigrate to New South Wales, and dig for gold in the debris and drift of what he called the Australian Cordillera, where he anticipated, from the similarity with the Ural Mountains, that it would be found in abundance. The eminent geologist had no other guidance in this matter than his own sagacious deductions from geological facts.

SINGULAR FACT RESPECTING WOMEN.—It's a singular fact that a woman cannot look from a precipice of any magnitude without instantly becoming dizzy. But what is still more singular, the dizziness departs the very moment somebody puts his arm around her waist to keep her from falling.

☞ The Buffalo, New York and Erie Railroad Company, which reduced the fare to New York $1, two weeks ago, has again put the fare up to $2, between Buffalo and New York, the same as by other routes.

The Question at Baltimore.

The question to be presented at Baltimore on the 18th of June, when the Convention reassembles, is, shall the majority or minority yield their preferences on the Presidency? A majority of the whole Convention of delegates, representing the thirty-three States, backed up by at least four-fifths of the Democratic masses of the nation, have asked the nomination of Senator Douglas. That majority has been expressed in the face of the most determined and formidable combinations of politicians, in the face of the persecution of the Southern disunionists and the Administration, and it does not as strongly reflect the popular will as it should have done. The people, during the session of the Convention, have manifested extraordinary solicitude that their wishes should be carried out.

They have wondered whether the Convention would dare to ignore their notorious and well-understood preference. We say that it cannot with safety! It is time the opposition should be abandoned, and that all should submit to the choice of the majority of the representatives of the party expressed at Charleston. It is good Democratic doctrine that the majority should govern. In all our National Conventions heretofore, save one, the candidate of the majority has received the two-thirds requisite to make the nomination. The small opposition to the favorite of the people is divided among half a dozen candidates, and it can easily surrender with a good grace. It would be right and magnanimous in them to yield. It would be suicidal in our Southern friends to continue at Baltimore the vehement struggle at Charleston.

The Northern Democrats have got to fight their battles with the Republicans, and more than four-fifths of the Northern delegates respect Douglas' selection. They request it with spirit, emphasis and vehemence, because they know that he is our available man. If the Southern delegates could have been in the North during the pendency of the convention, and seen the joy which the Republicans manifested when Mr. Douglas' prospects were clouded, and their gloom when they were bright, they would not have hesitated for a moment in their choice. After the many battles which Mr. Douglas has fought for the Constitutional rights of the South, opposition to him and his friends from that quarter seems the hight of ingratitude and injustice.

We rely upon the appeal to the people of the South, which has been made, and we anticipate his nomination at Baltimore as one of the certainties of the future. It is not a question now of men, but of principle. Shall a few bullying and blustering secessionists and disunionists be able to thwart the emphatic expression of a majority of the Democratic citizens of the United States, and thus annihilate the very idea upon which our government is based? We say no; never.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Alone With the Dying.

It would be difficult to find in the whole range of fiction a more affecting incident than is contained in the following extract from a letter written by a British seaman to his wife. It was his first service as a soldier, he having been sent on shore with a boat's crew of marines to silence a fort and take some guns:

We dispersed at a few hundred yards distance from the beach to keep the coast clear while the boat's crew made prizes of the guns. The enemy had advantage of the wood, and also knowing the country well, a troop of them showed in advance. We were ordered to fire. I took steady aim and fired at my man at about sixty yards. He fell like a stone. At the same time a broadside from the ship went in among the trees, and the enemy disappeared. I could scarcely tell how, I felt as though I must go up to him and see whether he was dead or alive. He lay quite still, and I was more afraid of him lying so than when he stood facing me a few minutes before. It is a strange feeling to come over you all at once that you have killed a man. He had unbuttoned his jacket, and was pressing his hand over the front of his chest, where the wound was. He breathed hard, and the blood poured from the wound, and also from his mouth, every breath he drew. His face was white as death, and his eyes looked so big and bright as he turned them and stared at me. I shall never forget it. He was a fine young fellow, not more than five and twenty. I went down on my knees beside him, and my breast felt so full as though my own heart would burst. He had a real English face, and did not look like an enemy. What I felt I can never tell; but if my life could have saved his, I believe I should have given it. I laid his head on my knee, and he grasped hold of my hand and tried to speak, but his voice was gone. I could not utter a word to him, and every time he went to speak the blood poured out, so I knew it would soon be over. I am not ashamed to say that I was worse than he, for he never shed a tear, and I couldn't help it. His eyes were closed when a gun was fired from the —— to order aboard, and that aroused him. He pointed to the beach, where the boat was just pushing off with the guns which he had taken, and where our marines were waiting to man the second boat, and then he pointed to the wood where the enemy was concealed. Poor fellow! he little thought how I had shot him down. I was wondering how I could leave him to die, and no one near him, when he had something like a convulsion for a moment, and then his face rolled over, and without a sigh he was gone. I trust the Almighty has received his soul. I laid his head gently down on the grass and left him. It seemed so strange when I looked at him for the last time. I somehow thought of everything I had heard about the Turks, and the Russians, and the rest of them, but all that seemed so far off and the dead man so near.

THE DANGER OF ARCTIC EXPEDITIONS.—It would seem, from the following extract from a late speech of Edward Everett, in Boston, that the danger of Arctic expeditions has been grossly overrated. He says:

"The danger, however, is probably less than we suppose. Of twenty-eight or thirty expeditions to the polar regions, one only has proved wholly disastrous. Most of them contributed something to the discovery of a northwest passage, which was finally accomplished by McClure. One or two vessels have been crushed, five or six abandoned, most of them, as the event showed, unnecessarily; but with the exception of the gallant Franklin and his unfortunate company, few have perished in the cause; and men may perish anywhere, in any cause. The first time I crossed the little branch on which Bladensburg stands, in the neighborhood of Washington, I was told that a sailor, just returned from a whaling voyage, was drowned the week before, while fording it in the stage coach. The French Admiral, Du Petit-Thouars, came home from a three-years cruise in 1842, and was roasted alive, with ninety others, in the railroad cars between Paris and Versailles, in open day—a greater number, probably, than have ever perished in all the Arctic expeditions. Of all the persons engaged in those expeditions, those who since their return have died quietly in their beds, no doubt exceed in number, a hundred fold, those who perished on the voyage."

TREATY WITH THE TONAWANDAS.—In November, 1857, the United States made a treaty with the Tonawanda band of Seneca Indians, in Western New York, which, it now appears, these Indians have turned to good account. A correspondent of the Philadelphia Press says:

"This new treaty, one of the most liberal-wise and humane ever made with an Indian tribe, provides that the Tonawandas surrender to the United States all claim to the lands and privileges in Kansas reserved to them under the treaties of '38 and '42, which treaties remain unexecuted, so far as they were concerned; and in consideration thereof, the United States agreed to pay and invest the sum of $256,000 for the Tonawanda band. With this money they were to purchase back the whole, or such portions of the reservation as the Ogden Company would sell, and the band were willing to purchase.

"The band have secured about seven thousand acres of their ancient reservation in fee, and unincumbered, for a permanent home—land not surpassed in fertility by any in the United States; they will be able to invest and receive interest on perhaps seventy-five thousand dollars, they will be paid regularly their annuities, and will, in reality, be one of the most comfortably situated and most amply endowed little colonies in the world."

THE MANUFACTURE OF GAS.—In Philadelphia the committee have been inquiring into the subject of a change in the material used for the manufacture of gas at the Philadelphia Gas Works, have reported that they have examined the details and apparatus for the manufacture of three kinds from bituminous coal, from distillation of wood, and from distillation of rosin, in conjunction with the vapor operator. They pronounce them all of excellent quality, and say that the only choice is economy. That produced from wood is the cheapest, and that from rosin the dearest. They report that no change could be advantageously made by the company.

A DARKEY DUKE.—One of the Ex-Emperor Faustin's dukes, who managed to escape from Hayti with well lined pockets, is luxuriating in Paris. He lolls in a comfortable carriage, which is driven by a white man, and has two white footmen.

An Astor at the West.

REMARKABLE EXPLOITS OF A SWINDLER AT DAVENPORT—HIS ARREST.

[From the Davenport (Iowa) Gazette, May 3.]

Two weeks ago last Monday a man came to this city, calling himself William Louis Astor, and representing that he was the only cousin in America of Wm. B. Astor, of New York city. He said he was from Memphis, Tennessee, and had formerly lived in New Orleans, at which place he and another man had a large hospital, he being a graduate of several celebrated schools in Europe. He was an intimate acquaintance of the Rothschilds, according to his pleasant fiction, who, when he came to this country, furnished him with letters of credit in the sum of $18,000. To Messrs. Kent & Co., land agents of this city, he represented that he wished to invest in real estate and loans in this vicinity, and that he had with him two drafts, one of $12,700, and one of $18,000, payable at the banking house of Smith & Co., New York city, who, he said, were agents for the Rothschildsand "Bill Astor." He also had what purported to be a letter of credit from Wm. B. Astor, for $100,000. Messrs. Kent & Co., with their usual urbanity, showed him much attention, indulging him in every courtesy, and free buggy rides, to look at various pieces of property.

He was so well pleased with the location and inducements offered, that he had negotiated for about $25,000 worth of city and country property. He also had made arrangements to loan several sums of money; among them was one triffe of $30,000 to the largest property holder in the city. He was very liberal in his terms, offering it at ten per cent. for five years. He also concluded to purchase a residence for his brother, and looked at several private residences around town for a selection. As he intended to settle in this city, he was desirous of purchasing a "spanking pair of boys," that being a color to which he was always partial. He also visited the carriage manufactories, and at the well-known establishment of Burr Andrews, he found a beautiful vehicle valued at about $150, which he thought "might do." Last Monday week he informed K. & Co., that he had made a loan of $300 to a German in Rock Island, who was about to lose his property, and it would be necessary for him to negotiate one of his drafts immediately. They represented to him that it would be favorable for him to delay a few days, until he closed up some of his trades. He deposited with them an envelop which contained the drafts of $30,700 alluded to. Messrs. K. & Co. loaned him $30, he saying that he had use for a little pocket money. Last Saturday, the day appointed by him for the paying of certain loans, he was introduced to Messrs. Mucklot & Corbin, bankers, who declined purchasing his drafts. He then filled out two orders of $2,000 cash, on said Smith & Co., New York, for which he was to receive ten certificates, of $5,000 each, on the American Exchange Bank. He apologized for the delay, and appointed yesterday as the time when he could accommodate his friends, on which occasion he should be most happy to pay them the amount in gold. During the interval, he called on the President of the Branch Bank, and got a list of property amounting to some $20,000, for which he offered $10,000, and which proposal, we believe, was accepted. Only a short time previous to his arrest, he had also made other purchases of property, conditionally. He certified to Messrs. K. & Co. that he had made arrangements with the State Bank, and that his checks would be honored after bank hours yesterday morning. The bank, however, declined purchasing his drafts, and he visited the Rock Island Bank. Messrs. K. & Co. telegraphed to New York to learn particulars, and received an answer that he was "bogus." Accordingly, yesterday a warrant was taken out, and Mr. Astor was arrested by constable Wentz at the dinner hour at the New Pennsylvania House. Upon searching, two memorandum books were found on his person. One was marked "A. R. L." the other appeared to be a diary of "B R L." and W. S. Astor; also the two $25,000 orders on Smith & Co., which he had said he forwarded some days ago. From entries in his diary he has visited Milwaukie, Wis., Glasgow, Mo., Hunstville, Ala., and other places. He was taken before C. G. Blood, Esq., on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses from Messrs. Kent & Co., and was held in bonds of $500 for his appearance on the 14th. In default he was committed to jail. Messrs. Leak & Grant appeared for the prisoner, and Corbin & Dow for the prosecution. He is a genteel appearing and well-dressed man, a German, and about 30 years of age. He talks good English. He has a female with him, who he says is his wife. She is genteel in her appearance, and apparently a person of about his own age.

A PARISIAN ACTRESS' HIRSUTE FRAUD UPON HER TWO RUSSIAN LOVERS.—The gossips, says the Paris correspondent of the New Orleans Delta, tell a funny story, in which two Russian noblemen and a favorite actress play the principal parts. Both of the Boyards were suitors for the fair lady's smiles, and both seemed to be equally esteemed by her. It would appear that, in Russia, as well as in many other countries, a lock of hair is considered a signal pledge of the tender passion; but if the truth must be told, few of our theatrical divinities are endowed with profuse chevelures, and it they were, the incessant demand would soon exhaust the supply! Madmoiselle Alice glories in the possession of auburn ringlets, and wouldn't part with one of them for less than a duchy. Her Russian admirers, the Count de L. and the Baron de M., both happen to have hair of the same golden hue as that of their mutual Dulcinea. Each begged for a tress of her hair in exchange for a lock of his own, to which the charming creature readily assented, and without touching a single curl of her head, cunningly managed to effect an exchange of parcels, by which each gentleman received a tuft of his rival's capillaries. The Count now wears the Baron's "wool" next his heart, and the Baron sleeps with the Count's scalp-lock under his pillow. What terrible deceivers these "female women" are!

TRICKS OF A JUGGLER.—The New York correspondent of the Philadelphia Inquirer gives the following:

We have a celebrated juggler performing in the city, who played an amusing trick in a Broadway omnibus this forenoon. There was a distinguished literary gentleman in the stage, with whom he entered into conversation. At length the literary gentleman pulled the strap, and was about to get out, when the juggler tapped him gently on the shoulder:

"Excuse me, sir," said he, "I doubt not you are an honest man, but I perceive you have one of my gloves in your pocket." And greatly to the gentleman's surprise, he pulled one of his gloves from an inside pocket; in which, of course, he had adroitly placed it without the gentleman's knowledge

"Had I have taken one," replied the gentleman, "I should have taken both."

"Yes," replied the juggler, "but I see you have my pocket book as well," whereupon he also took that article from the very bottom of the astonished gentleman's luside pocket.

☞ A machine has been invented by M. Combarieu and submitted to the English Government, for making type. At present the characters are molded one by one, and are finished up afterwards, passing through two or three hands. M. Combarieu, by his machine, produces 10,000 of these characters at one stroke. Each letter is then separated by a mechanical saw, which divides them with mathematical precision and regularity. The consequence of this invention will be: production increased per cent.; exactitude and regularity hitherto unattainable; the use of harder metal, which will avoid the frequent renewal of printers' material, and the reduction by one-half, of the outlay. M. Combarieu announces his intention of producing characters in steel, the durability of which will be beyond calculation.

THE EXTENT OF TOM SAYERS' INJURIES.—The impression was generally on reading the first intelligence of the great fight, that Sayers' injuries were by no means as great as Heenan's. It seemed very extraordinary indeed, that he could receive the repeated visitations of the Boy's terrible left "mawley," resulting in a clean knock down in nearly every round, the "Champion" falling in several instances, according to an eye-witness, "as though he had been struck by a cannon-ball," without suffering severely. It now appears, from a statement contained in the London Times, that in the sixth round one of the bones in Sayers' right arm was broken, and a gentleman who witnessed the fight writes to the New York Herald that all of his front teeth were knocked out. At the end of the fight he was as helpless as a child.

HONOR TO THE OHIO DELEGATES.—We find the following in the Columbus Statesman of yesterday:

THIRTY-THREE GUNS FOR THE OHIO DELEGATION.—A national salute of thirty three guns was fired in this city on yesterday evening, in honor of the Ohio Delegation in the Democratic National Convention, and in approval of their course during the deliberations of that body.

A meeting will be held in this city to give the delegates a public reception. A committee was appointed last night to take the matter in hand.—Cin. Enq.

A WHITE MAN AND WHITE WOMAN BEATEN TO DEATH WITH A CLUB BY A SLAVE—ARREST OF THE MURDERER.

The Purdy Banner of the 28th ult. furnishes the following particulars of one of the most horrible and atrocious assassinations that ever stained the annals of McNair county:

On Sunday night, the 22d inst., six miles south of this place, a negro man, belonging to Mr. John P. Erwin, entered the house of his master, at the hour of twelve o'clock, or thereabouts, and assaulted Mr. and Mrs. Erwin, while they were asleep in bed, and beat them over the head with a cudgel, in such a manner as to almost instantly kill Mrs. Erwin, and but little h

☞ We would advise all who are afflicted with weak eyes, or are near or far-sighted, to call on Mr. E. Sincere, at his Optical Institute, under the National Hotel, who will furnish glasses precisely adapted to the eye.

BEAUTIFUL SPRING GOODS FOR GENTLEMEN'S CLOTHING.—We invite attention to the card of Mr. Swain, merchant tailor, Masonic Temple, Fourth street. This gentleman has on hand a stock of the most beautiful French, English and American cloths, cassimeres and vestings, designed especially for the spring styles. The cutting and designing department of this celebrated establishment is under well known and artistic cutters, and a guarantee to give entire satisfaction is awarded to each gentleman who patronizes the establishment. The public are invited to call and examine his stock of goods for coats, pants and vests, before making their selections. Fit, fashion, fabric and price warranted to give entire satisfaction.

☞ S. Barker, at the New York Store, No. 107 Fourth street, is selling off his stock of seasonable goods at very low rates. Lace points and mantillets, Bannon's small check and other silks, black silks, barages, organdies, jaconet, lawns, English barages, crape shawls, hosiery, gloves, parasols, linen handkerchiefs of all kinds, linen diaper, with all kinds of heavy cottons for women and men's wear, selling at very reduced prices. Goods sent to any part of the city or packed and shipped per railroad or steamboat free of charge. tf

FINE CIGARS.—The increasing demand of that fine flavored and excellent cigar, Garibaldi, is an evidence that the Garibaldi brand is the best cigar extant. Mr. J. D'Urso, second door below Louisville Hotel, is the agent for the sale of them in this city and county. Hotels, bars, merchants and dealers generally, would do well to try a few boxes, and we will guarantee them an increase of custom. Mr. D'Urso's wholesale confectionery is one of the best and fullest establishments of the kind in the city.

☞ Consignments being daily received, we are compelled to call a sale on Tuesday and Wednesday next, May 8th and 9th, commencing at ten o'clock A. M., and continue all day, when the following goods will be offered: New invoices of lawns, organdies, challis robes, swissses, mulls, muslins, cross barred and plain jaconetts, and ladies and gentlemen's handkerchiefs; an elegant assortment of embroideries: an extensive stock of hose and half hose. Also new invoices of cloths, cassimeres, tweeds, cottonades, etc. In short, everything necessary for retailers. Our stock of shirts, drawers and underwear is very great, and will be included in the sale. We bespeak a large attendance to the sale as the goods are all fresh, and will be sold without any reserve whatever. Terms cash. (bankable funds.) Buyers please take notice.

N. B. 20 dozen of new bridles will be sold at the sale on the day also 10 dozen girths.

BYLL KAHN & CO., L. GRAUMAN, Auct.

☞ We invite all wishing to obtain good and pure drugs and medicines to the drug store of Strattan & Oxley, where pure drugs, and such valuable medicines and standard remedies as Perry Davis' Vegetable Pain Killer, Dr. Richardson's Sherry Wine Bitters, and Dr. Weaver's Canker and Salt Rheum Syrup and Cerate, can always be found. To deal in such pure and valuable remedies warrants prosperity, and to use them secures health.

COUGHS.—The great and sudden changes of our climate are fruitful sources of Pulmonary and Bronchial affections. Experience having proved that simple remedies often act speedily and certainly when taken in the early stage of the disease, recourse should at once be had to "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Lozenges, let the Cough or Irritation of the throat be ever so slight, as by this precaution a more serious attack may be effectually warded off.

☞ A small fight occurred yesterday afternoon near the corner of Fourth and Jefferson, between parties old enough to know better. Both were pretty well bruised up.

☞ We would invite special attention to Dr. Ayer's advertisement. Dr. Ayer is not represented by a substitute, but may be personally consulted for a few days

☞ We invite attention to the card, in this morning's paper, of Madame Baraum, the greatest Astrologist, Clairvoyant, and Female Doctress of the age

☞ The lovers of fun will remember that Rumsey & Newcomb's Campbell Minstrels will give their first entertainment at Masonic Temple on Tuesday night

☞ The citizens along upper Main street are busy introducing gas-pipes into their premises. Though paying a gas tax for years, they never until now could enjoy the luxury in their own houses.

☞ The Optical Institute, under National Hotel, Main street, is the place to get glasses precisely adapted to the eye. We have full confidence in Mr. Sincere's science of optics.

DESIRABLE BUILDING LOTS.—By referring to our auction advertisements, it will be seen that Mr. C. C. Spencer sells this afternoon several valuable lots on Gray and Clay streets. We are requested to say that the sale of these lots will be without reserve, and will commence with the Clay street lots.

☞ Yesterday morning, before day, a boarding-house up town was entered by an enterprising burglar, who proceeded to search for valuables. Fortunately, his movements awakened one of the lodgers, whereupon the nocturnal visitor made good use of his supporters, and beat a precipitate retreat, securing nothing for his trouble.

GLENVILLE STOCK FAIR.—We publish the morning an advertisement of the Glenville Stock Fair, to be held on the 31st of May. They offer premiums payable in agricultural publications. The sole object of the Society is to improve the cultivation of their home stocks, and to disseminate useful information pertaining to the farmer and stock grower.

☞ The Masonic Temple and grounds were sold yesterday by a decree in chancery, and were bought by the commissioners for the benefit of the stockholders and the Masonic fraternity. The commissioners, Messrs. Wilder, Guthrie, Delph, Welsiger and Crutchfield, in taking this step, have assumed a heavy responsibility, and the Masonic fraternity have now but to be prompt and active in backing these gentlemen to secure perpetual possession of the Temple. It is a duty they owe to themselves, the commissioners, and the widows and orphans of the craft.

THEATER.—The delightful old comedy of the Dramatist went off last night with the sparkle of newly opened champagne. The audience testified their delight by repeated bursts of applause, and the echoes of merry laughter shook the walls of the old building Mr. Elmore played Florville as well as it could have been played. Mrs. Authvre's play of the Wonder is to be performed. This is one of the good old comedies which abound in equivoque, and is full of situation and incident. It was a favorite play with Garrick, the character of Don Felix being the one which he chose when he took final farewell of the stage. Mr Murdoch created probably the greatest sensation since the days of Garrick, by the performance of this part in London. The play is well cast, and will be rendered with fine effect. It will not be repeated, so we may advise all our readers not to neglect the opportunity to see it to-night

Loss of Appetite.

IN persons of sedentary and literary pursuits, if the brain is overworked and the muscles underworked, the appetite is very apt to fall from a general atony of the system. The PERUVIAN SYRUP restores the tone of the digestive system, and, consequently, the appetite, by supplying a pure blood to organs too weak to make it without assistance.

RIVER NEWS.

TUESDAY MORNING, ... MAY 8, 1860.

The weather yesterday was wet, warm. Business on the levee was dull.

The river continues to recede slowly—nearly an inch in 24 hours. By the mark in the canal last night there was three feet seven inches.

To Messrs. Eberley and Taylor, clerks of the Monte McLellan, we are indebted for a manifest and memorandum.

The Eclipse has been taken over to New Albany from Portland, where she will be dismantled.

The Altamont is reported aground at Baffington.

The J. B. Ford left Parkersburg Saturday evening for this port.

The Atlantic, Capt. McGill, with J. A. Lowry and R. Furgueon clerks, will leave for New Orleans this evening at 5 o'clock.

FOR MEMPHIS AND WHITE RIVER.—The Interchange, Capt. Gilchrist, will leave the city wharf this evening at 5 o'clock for the above and intermediate ports.

The Grey Eagle, in charge of Capt. W. H. Daniels, is the regular Tuesday Henderson packet, and will leave for the above and intermediate ports. Capt. Sam B. Halliday, who will see that passengers are well attended to, has charge of the office.

The R. M. Patton, Capt. Bernard, is advertised to leave for all points on the Tennessee river this evening at 5 o'clock, from city wharf.

The Jacob Strader, Capt. Bitman, is the mailboat for Cincinnati to-day at noon.

We learn that the Crescent City is hard aground above Cape Girardeau. The Ben Lewis lightened her of 400 tons to C[illegible]ro, but couldn't get her off the bar.

The New Orleans Picayune of Thursday has the intelligence of the explosion and loss of the J. C. Calhoun on the Chattahoochee. We think the boat was built at Pittsburg last year.

The Commercial says Capt. Kidd, late of the Homer, came the passenger on the Tecumseh, and contemplates building a steamer for the Ouachita trade.

One-fourth of the Tecumseh—Mr. Patterson interest—was sold at Cincinnati, by the Sheriff, on Saturday, to Messrs. Logan & Sargent for $2,585.

The Patent Dredger, left lying in Cane Run Canal, which has been under attachment in Louisville for some time, has been sold. Messrs. Kratz & Hellman were the purchasers. The price paid has $400.

The Swallow, recently sunk in the chute of Bellington, having been raised by Capt. Parker, arrived at Cincinnati on Sunday. She will be repaired forthwith, and resume her regular trips to Marietta as heretofore.

There has been a change on the Victoria throughout, in her officers; Capt. Hicks has been succeeded by Capt. Wray, and the office heretofore, for a long period, filled by the courteous and attentive Foltz, is in charge of Mr. Booker, Alexander Waddell has resigned the freight clerkship.

The Goody Friends left Memphis on Saturday for Pittsburg.

The Submarine No 8, which was dispatched from St. Louis to raise the Prairie Rose, unfortunately grounded on the Middle Bar, opposite Cairo. At last accounts she still gave the two main log chains had parted, and her bow was settling down at the rate of four inches in every twenty-four hours. If not relieved soon, she will prove a total wreck. Capt. Fenton is still on board. All the furniture and dry freight has been sent to St. Louis and is in charge of Wm. M. Newall.

The Pittsburg Dispatch of Saturday says, business has reached a very low ebb on the wharf, and the tonnage offered is taken up very slowly. The river is receding steadily, and unless there is a sufficient fall of rain to float it, will be too low for the heavier class of boats before the close of next week. In the channel at the point bar there is now less than four and a half feet.

The arrivals and departures have dwindled down to a very slim number, the Wheeling packet Diamond, Capt. Wilson, and the Cincinnati packet Cheviott and Moderator the only departures. The latter took out a fair trip of passengers, most of whom were from Allegheny City.

The Autocrat passed Memphis yesterday morning, and will arrive to-morrow evening.

The St. Louis Republican of yesterday says the river at that point remains stationary. There is 7½ feet water in the channel out to Cairo, and boats bound down are beginning to experience some difficulty from grounding.

The Hindostan is falling, with 3½ feet in the chan[illegible] below Peoria and Lasalle.

The Uncle Sam, master [illegible], with a fleet on the Upper Mississippi is stationary, with 4 feet on the lower rapids. Below Keokuk there is 5 feet.

The Missouri river [illegible] falling with 3½ feet in the channel below Weston. The Rowena and J. D. Perry are both down at St. Louis from the Missouri.

The T. E. Tutt, on her way down [illegible] the Missouri, ran on a stump or snag, below Miami, and broke about 40 or 50 timbers in her hull. The strain on the [illegible] bar breaking a portion of the cabin floor, and came very near [illegible] over her chains. The boat soaked very little, and [illegible] without further damage. She went on the docks Saturday evening, and will be off ready for business on Thursday.

The Prairie Rose, lately sunk in Ste. Genevieve Bend, has been raised, and arrived at St. Louis on Sunday. She will be repaired immediately.

The officers of the Joe Walsh, which arrived at St. Louis from New Orleans on Sunday, report the L. M. Kennett hard aground at Devil's Island, with prospect of having a situation for the summer.

The Lackland was aground at Selma. The Kennett hailed the Jno. Walsh to come to her assistance, but the Walsh did not fancy going into such shoal water.

TRUNKS.—Those who would save money will study their own interest when they want trunks of any kind, valises, carpet-bags, traveling trunks, or ladies' bonnet-boxes, to call at the Trunk Emporium of Edward Stewart, No. 225 Market street, south side, between Second and Third streets. If you would buy a good article low go there. m4 dly

☞ We would call the particular attention of every reader to the advertisement of McLEAN'S STRENGTHENING CORDIAL and VOLCANIC OIL LINIMENT. They are too well known in this community to require recommendations. But there are many of our readers who are suffering from a derangement of the digestive organs, without the slightest idea of the real cause, giving rise to symptoms such as despondency, nervous, unpleasant feeling, indecision, lack of energy, making existence a burden. To all who may be so afflicted, try this Cordial; it will give immediate relief. To all who may be afflicted with Sores or Pains of any kind, try the Liniment. See the advertisement in another column. ap2 d&wlm

☞ You will find a great variety of fine Watches, Clocks, Jewelry, Silver Ware, Specacles and everything in the jewelry line at P. W. Ramsey's, on Third street, where you can get a bargain, if you will call.

☞ At a time when there is great fear that the stock of dry lumber, sash, doors, blinds, &c., will fall short, owing to the vast amount of improvements in Louisville, it will be interesting to the public to know that Alexander, Ellis & Co., have enlarged their factory and have now on hand several million of dry lumber. Call at their office on Main street, nearly opposite the Galt House, or at their factory on Fulton, above Preston street

TRUNKS.—Among the places worthy of the attention of the visitors to Louisville at the present time, is the great trunk manufactory and emporium of J. H. McCleary, on the northeast corner of Fourth and Main streets. His large manufactory enables him to supply trunks, valises, bonnet and hat boxes, carpet bags, bureau trunks, etc., of the very best quality, at unprecedented low prices. All of Mr. McCleary's work is beautiful as well as durable goods. Give him a call.

Look to Your Interests.

The people are aware that D. O'Hare, No. 427 Main street, is the oldest, largest and most experienced manufacturer of trunks and similar articles in the city. They should avail themselves of the rare opportunities afforded by Mr. O'Hare. To country and city merchants he offers peculiar advantages in his wholesale department, while in the retail line he cannot be equaled. Who ever wants to travel, whether with a small carpet-bag or a mammoth trunk, need go no further than to the Great Western Trunk Factory of Mr. O'Hare.

His manufactory is a credit to Louisville, and should meet with extensive patronage. Hundreds of workmen are employed, and thousands of dollars weekly disbursed. As a matter of theme pride, and to subserve economy, purchasers will consult their best interests in purchasing of Mr. O'Hare.

☞ BARRY'S TRICOPHEROUS is the best and cheapest article for dressing, beautifying, cleansing, curling, preserving and restoringthe hair Ladies, try it. Sold by all Druggists and Perfumers. mr16 d0m

FINE FURNITURE.—Wharton & Bennett keep constantly on hand a large stock of desirable parlor, office and chamber furniture, of all kinds and patterns which they sell at their wareroom at the lowest prices. Their store is Nos. 602 and 604 Market street, between Second and Third. dtf

HOME TESTIMONY.
INDEPENDENCE KY., AUG. 3D, '59.

DR. C. W. BOSACK, M. D.:

Dear Sir: For the past several months I have been laboring under great weakness and general debility, much of the time confined to my bed, and from which I received no benefit from my physician. After using some of your blood pills and blood purifier, purchased of your agent, Mr. Wm. H. H. Plummer, I feel as a new person, almost entirely free from disease, and would recommend your medicines to all who are in need of so invaluable remedies.

Yours, truly, MARY Y. HOFFMAN.

GOOD.—A lunatic once informed a physician who was classifying cases of insanity, that he lost his wits by watching a politician, whose course was so crooked that it turned his brain. If, on the contrary, he had been watching the effects of Helm street's Hair Restorative, he would have saved his wits and learned a curious triumph of Art over Nature. See advertisement. fe15 3dawlm

HOOP SKIRTS.—John M. Robinson & Co. are now manufacturing a large stock for the Spring trade. Their Skirts have attained great popularity, as they use only the very best tempered watch spring steel, and each hoop is fastened to the tapes by means of a woven loop instead of the ordinary clasp. Thus effectually preventing the annoyance of the tapes being constantly cut. Their skirts can be had at all the retail houses throughout he South and West. Sold only at wholesale.

DOORS, SASH, BLINDS, BOXES, LUMBER AND SHINGLES.—Messrs. Trevlen & Brailey have on hand a large lot of doors, sash, blinds, boxes, &c., at their warerooms, on First street, between Main and the river, and they are prepared to execute all orders for woodwork necessary for the inside finish of frame or brick houses of every description, as heretofore. They invite special attention to the large stock of well-seasoned pine lumber and shingles at their yard on Walnut street, between East and Floyd. They furnish bills of prices on application, and solicit orders in their line.

Louisville Bone Mill,

Corner Twenty-First and Grayson Sts.

I BEG LEAVE TO INFORM ALL THOSE INTERESTED in Superphosphate and Concentrated Manure, that I have a large quantity of raw bones on hand, and will continue to grind them at the above mill. Having had a large quantity of raw bones on hand for several years in England, Germany and in the Eastern States of this country, this kind of Manure can be used to many years with the same good success. The best way to use it is to straw from 150 to 500 lbs. per acre in the fall, and plow as deep as practicable for Trees, if even both for Corn and To acco, just a round as early half; for Potatoes, Garden Vegetables, and Grass, in the furrows. One of the principal reasons why this Manure is in the hauling of it—no danger to be crushed to death at one load, in a two-horse wagon, as much as from twenty to twenty-five loads of bone dust can be carried. Manure.

I am prepared to furnish any d sired quantity at the shortest notice.

Payson's Compensating Sash Balance!

THIS ARRANGEMENT CONSISTS OF COILS OF small needles-oil, and dispenses entirely with weights, springs and boxing of the frame. This arrangement is applied to all classes of heavy sash, principally in churches and halls. Both sash are perfectly counterbalanced, giving one-half of the opening at the bottom and one-half at the top of the window sash. This movement is produced by tacing both of the lower Sash only; to the bottom rail of the upper sash, and by a small coil spring that has ever been attached to window-sash, and passes the upper Sash within the centre of window-sash and frame, so that the upper sash can be raised and lowered to take hold of it. No sashes or lower Sash raised and lowered separately, or together, as may be necessary. The advantages over the box frame are as follows: Its costless than one half as much; it does not raise the upper Sash while the lower one is being raised; it requires three scratches of brick, and consequently, safety in handling of sash; it requires no pocket to any sash or window. In box frames, where only the lower Sash can be moved, by this arrangement the upper Sash can admit air without the lower one; it is far more convenient than with weights.

I would call upon persons willing to dispense with cords, buttons and pulleys, which are so inconvenient and dangerous in raising and lowering windows-sash, to call at No. 6 Bullitt, or at the corner of Fourth and Main, or at James Dodge's Lock Manufactory, on Jefferson street, above Third, where a model of a window hung by this method can be seen.

GENTLEMEN'S
FRENCH
Boot & Shoe Establishment
No. 4 Main Street,
LOUISVILLE HOTEL BUILDING,
Louisville, Ky.

S. R. PORTER, IN SOLICITING THE PATronage of the Inhabitants of Louisville and vicinity in the above business, asks to leave to state, in relation to his qualifications for the same, that he has had the most unremitting attention to the fitting of the same. Being fully convinced that the best workmanship possible on certain portions of Boots and Shoes, which in cases cuts, bunions and other unnatural formations of the foot, will be secured by personal attention to the formation of the Boot or Shoe.

S. R. PORTER GUARANTEES
A GOOD AND EASY FIT.

Each article being made under his own supervision hence. It is self-evident that the most delicate bunions are caused to impart pressure on the foot; consequently by making room for such, all pressure will be taken from them. If the Boot or Shoe, therefore, be not formed according to the position of the foot when the weight of the body rests upon it, the foot will be cramped in an unnatural position which, with the friction of a smooth leather lining, produces corns and bunions. Hence it is from the Boot or Shoe and not the foot and properly—a defect solely to be attributed to the manufacturer—no hasty but thorough attention to the science of his business—that has caused the many to prefer, from the first, to the last, the Boots and Shoes and wealth in the former instance, by the parties concerned by corns, &c., and in the latter, by compelling persons to call for the purpose of regaining health, at a sacrifice such articles before they are half worn out. Hoping the unanimous public a trial to a worthy man in the public at large in regard to this essential point—the proper fitting of the foot.

Shoemaking should not be regarded as an important science, although it is generally considered as a trade, or mere business. The great success in the manufacture of Boots and Shoes so far as we are manufactured, consists mainly, very many, who use these articles are not only the slaves of fashion, but of the caprice of the manufacturer of either, and many of the evils which result from the use of ill-fitting Boots and Shoes, such as corns, bunions, &c., are not wholly attributable to the foot, but to the improper shape of the Boot or Shoe, which, in point of a pair of boots, is the same as the foot, and the consequence is that the pressure of the foot upon the sole of the Boot or Shoe is not in the proper position when the weight of the body rests upon it, and the friction of a smooth leather lining produces corns and bunions
